Registre National des Entreprise (RNE)
Digitalisation of the Commercial Register

Our Cooperation with the RNE

RNE (National Registry of Commerce) is a newly established government agency that has assumed full responsibility over the national commercial registry. Originally, the commercial register was under the responsibility of the Ministries of Justice and Economy.

RNE is responsible for the collection and management of metadata of all companies, societies, organisations, ONGs, professionals, etc. established and resident in Tunisia. It is the country's central business database through which all amendments must pass.

The digital transformation is in full swing in Tunisia. All ministries and all state-owned companies and institutions are involved in this ecosystem. In this context, RNE represents the core of the entire ecosystem, which aims to fully digitise all processes.

BUSINESS SOLUTIONS

The Challenge

In 2007, think tank participated in a tender by the then INNORPI, beat other big names in IT and won the contract. The wish was to digitalise all processes of the commercial register, including communication with all authorities involved, within one year.

Technical and infrastructural challenges had to be overcome, as the IT infrastructure of all authorities was very outdated.

The following goals are being pursued:

- Participation of users (entrepreneurs, freelancers, lawyers, accountants) in the processes of business creation and information change.
- Full digitalisation of all processes: Registration, electronic signing of documents, scanning of documents, online payment, validation processes up to the publication of all public business information and files of the companies incl. a commercial register file with secured QR codes.
- Providing search mechanisms for quick retrieval of all information of a company or a person having a relationship with a given company.

Our Contribution at a Glance:

- Conception and development of user flow, user stories
- User experience
- Platform consulting
- Project management und Scrum astering
- Frontend- und backend development
- Operation and maintenance

Together with our IT partner think tank Business Solutions, we have succeeded in designing and setting up one of the most efficient and comlex IT system in eGwo Environment, which is the Business Corporate Registry of Tunisia.
